

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to this free Inspiration guide for your Ikonoo Monthly Planner.

You will find some ideas inside that will hopefully inspire you and your family, in showing you how you can best use your calendar, in different contexts. This is a guide without pretentiousness, and its sole aim is to make sure that you, as a customer, are educated to some of the best practices and possibilities of your new monthly planner. We hope you will find it useful.

We will keep it as concise as possible. Now let's get started.

TIP #1 – CAP SIDE FACING DOWN

We recommend that you store the markers with the cap side facing down, so that the ink flows down to the tip for more vivid colors and an extended markers lifetime.

As the markers have a strong magnetic power, you can even store them on the calendar directly that way, so you keep space on your fridge door. You can use the space on the left and right sides of the calendar in order to not mess with your planning.

TIP #2 – THE ADDITIONAL 6TH WEEK

The calendar has been designed to optimize the writing surface. If a given months splits into 6 calendar weeks, simply use the first row for the last days of the current month.

Note that most of the monthly planners on the market are following this approach, which makes sense, because why showing $6 \times 7 = 42$ day grids for one month? We find this is overkill and opted for maximization of the writing area per grid to ensure best user experience.

TIP #3 – LARGE FAMILY?

Now let's get INSPIRED.

We provide 6 dry erase markers so that you can keep track of 6 members in parallel on the same calendar. Each family member has a dedicated color!

If everyone has a busy schedule, this won't fit. In that case, you can consider getting additional monthly planners, and use them not only on a refrigerator, but on any magnetic surface, like metallic boards or cabinets.

INSPIRATION #1 – WRITING DOWN YOUR PERSONAL RESOLUTION WILL HELP YOU ACHIEVING THEM!
